About The Curious Capy Press

The Curious Capy Press began as a father's wish to make the world feel a little more wonderful for his curious nine-year-old.

We're a family that loves to travel, loves books, and believes the best adventures begin with a question. Every book we make is a journey — something beautiful to colour, something surprising to learn, and a guide named Capy: a well-travelled capybara who hides a fact (and sometimes himself) on every page.

Four books and counting. We hope you'll explore them all.
